

Proteomedix is a growing start-up company with headquarters in Zurich-Schlieren, Switzerland. It develops, manufactures and sells innovative in-vitro diagnostics products for prostate cancer diagnosis. The first product Proclarix[®] is improving prostate biopsy decision making in men suspected to have prostate cancer and was launched in 2020, The company is looking for a Global Product Manager managing the current in-vitro diagnostic products and shaping the product vision. You will have the overall responsibility for the product which involves interacting with top management and internal departments ranging from R&D, operations, QM/regulatory to marketing and sales.

Location: Zurich-Schlieren, Switzerland

Global Product Manager

Your Responsibilities

- Acting as Global Product Manager for in-vitro diagnostics products and shaping the product vision
- Manage current and future diagnostic products including software along the product lifecycle, including identification of opportunities, market evaluation, business planning and implementation
- Drive the commercialization of Proteomedix' diagnostic solutions by acting as the interface between management, medical affairs, manufacturing, quality®ulatory, marketing&sales, research&development and operations.
- Deep understanding of international markets, competition and customer requirements
- Drive product launches together with the marketing team
- Determine product pricing by utilizing market research data and by reviewing production and sales cost
- Drive continuous improvement of our processes, best practices, and products
- Demand forecasting
- Reporting to the Chief Business Officer

Profile and Expertise

- University degree in business, science or engineering
- Minimum 3 years professional experience as a product manager in a life science company, preferably in the in-vitro diagnostic sector
- Proven track record of managing all aspects of a successful product throughout its lifecycle
- Hands-on experience in bringing IVD products with software component to the market is a plus
- Strong and pro-active creator
- Excellent communication skills and a demonstrated ability to interact with customers, partners and internal stakeholders at all levels of the organization
- Fast-learner, passionate about continually adapting your skills and knowledge
- Fluent in German and English
- Hands-on experience with clinical laboratories and/or laboratory in-vitro diagnostics is a strong plus
- Experience with ISO 13485 or IEC 62304 is a strong plus

Your Benefits

- You will be working in an innovative company on the cutting edge of technology with a direct impact on improving patient care.
- You have a high degree of freedom in organizing your work and have the opportunity to develop into an international business development position.
- You will participate in product launches in Europe and in the implementation of global market and business development plans.

If you are interested in this role and feel like you can contribute to the success of Proteomedix please send your detailed curriculum vitae to jobs@proteomedix.com.